Jones, Commissioner of the Revenue, was called in the County Court this morning. A. L. Legar, of counsel for the defendant, demurred to the petition on the ground that an attested copy of the compilant was not served on the contestee within ten days after the election, and filed a piea of abatement. The demurrer was overruled, and then P. St. George Willcox, counsel for the plaintiff, demurred to the piea in atastement. This demurrer was sustained by the Court, to which rulling exception was noted by counsel for the defence. The court adjourned at 3 o'clock until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning. The indications are that the case will be tried on its merits, although many people here were of the opinion that it would never reach a jury.

Of the seven men shocked by lightning at the ship-yard yesterday, Frank King, of Richmond, is the most seriously injured. There is little doubt, however, that he will recover in due time, although his injuries are very painful. John Darlington was also severely burned. The others are practically all right. It is understood that when the flash descended one of the men was attacked with convuisions, and that it took four persons to hold him. The accident created consternation for a time among the ship-yard employees. CREATED CONSTERNATION.

A magistrate and Sergeant Osborne went to masistrate and Sergeant Osborne went to stop a dance the negroes were having. As they approached near the house Hos-kins and his wife came out into the yard fashing, and as Osborne attempted to arrest them Hoskins fired at him four times. Two of the shots took effect, from which he died in a short time. HUNTING THE MURDERER.

trial and execution created so much ex-citement in this part of the State. Hos-kins is at large, but hundreds of men armed with Winchesters are scouring the woods, and if he is taken it is more than probably he will be lynched. It is said he is wanted in West Virginia for nurder. If not captured by morning blood-hounds will be put on his trail.

THE GAMBLING HOUSES WILL BE RAIDED IF REOPENED.

Chief Howard Had Let the Sports Know Through Their Friends That He Intended to Close Their

Dispatch reporter yesterday with reference to the announcement, made exclu sively in the Dispatch, that all of the faro-banks in the city had closed up and gone out of business for the time being He said he knew nothing of this action on the part of the gamblers until he read of it in this paper, but he was not surprised, as he had been expecting them to shut up shop for several days. He had intended summoning them to appear before him for a lecture similar to that given the barkeepers; but he decided to try other tactics, and notify them by intimation through their friends that they would have to go out of business, as he he found them. Major Howard sald that in all of his career as a policeman he had never taken snap judgment on any one, and he didn't propose to do so now. He detalled Sergeant Aleck Tomlinson to make a round of all the gambling-houses in the city yesterday, their locations having previously been given him by the captains of the districts, and to report to him. Sergeant Tomlinson did so, but every one was deserted, and all he could find was a cue-card, used in the game of faro, and two policy slips. These are now in the hands of the Chief.

The Chief continued by saying that he would issue instructions to his policemen to look out for gaming now, and no more warning would be given. If any one of the houses now closed reopened, it would be raided promptly. He added, that special attention would be given to policy-writers within the next few days, and in a short time he would close every career as a policeman he had never taken policy-writers and in a short time he would close every policy-shop in the city.

With reference to the order served on

With reference to the order perved on the druggists and confectioners, warning them to close their places on Sunday, ex-cept for the sale of medicine, Major How-ard said he issued that edict because of the complaint of the barkeepers that they were made to close while druggists and confectioners did a thriving busi-ness, many of them selling whiskey over their counters. This order he says will also be rigidity enforced.

their counters. This also be rigidly enforced.

None of the banks were open last night, and everything was quiet in gambling circles. The sports seem not to mind having to close, as they say their business had previously been ruined by so much attention being given them. Young men attention being given them.
